

Banquet and Dance By Diamond D Girls

Last Monday Evening Was a Great Success

Miss Hall presented a very interesting and pleasant surprise to the guests at the banquet and dance held by the Diamond D girls last Monday evening. The girls had arranged for a very special program of entertainment and the guests were most pleased with the results.

Upon entering, the guests saw most daintily spread tables with mums and carnations as the chief decorations, and found their places by means of nicely embellished, diamond shaped place cards. After the singing of grace a bevy of young girls, with the shawls, speed and dexterity which characterized their activities on the football field, saw that no time was lost in getting the favorite indoor game of basketball under way. Their combination attacks and defence in the handling of the ball, was most interesting.

Was just like their play on the field, so neat. The games and pies and coffee too. The girls had arranged for a very special program of entertainment and the guests were most pleased with the results.

Also present in style, "says you!"

After all had partaken of a most delightful dinner, Mrs. D. Phillips, who acted as hostess for the occasion, started the after dinner program by proposing a toast to the King to which the gathering heartily responded. Mrs. Phillips welcomed the guests on behalf of the girls and then called on the orchestra for a selection.

Speaking to the toast: "Sport, in our own town," Ed L. Stone reviewed the history of sport in Redcliff from the first vest in the formation of a cricket club, down to the present when all branches of sport had met with a fair degree of success.

Football, he said, had been the most successful and for this reason it was not surprising the girls had taken to it. He reminded the gathering that several old Redcliff footballers had found place on some of the best teams in the west and that one season when an old country team was making a tour of Canada there was an ex-Redcliff player on every team the visitors played against between Winnipeg and the coast. Also that when an all star team was picked from all over Canada, again an ex-Redcliff player was not only picked but was chosen as captain of the team. This the speaker thought, should be a source of pride and also an inspiration to present and prospective football players in Redcliff.

Mrs. Stone was called upon for a talk on "Woman in Sport" and to propose a toast to the football girls. Dealing with what she termed the emancipation of women in all branches of activities, Mrs. Stone made special reference to women's development in athletic circles, tracing it from the innocuous game of croquet down to the present when girls are taking part in all kinds of outdoor and indoor sport at one time indulged in only by men and boys. This departure, the speaker claimed, had a beneficial effect mentally, morally and physically, on the girls of today. Special emphasis was placed on the latter as statistics showed that lung diseases which were more prevalent among women a decade or so ago were now about equalized between male and female. Mrs. Stone then proposed a toast to the girls' football team in which she congratulated them for the showing made during the first year of their venture in that line of sport and predicted more wonderful achievements for the future.

Miss Ivy Podesta responded for the girls, thanking the previous speaker for her kindly remarks, and the public generally for their interest and encouragement.

Mr. R. S. Hodge proposed the toast to the Diamond D boys' team. Considering last year was the first attempt for a place in the league, he considered they had made an excellent showing. He thought it a good thing that both the plant and the men to be interested in sport and he assured the boys they would have the support and co-operation of all in their endeavors to make a better showing next season. Messrs. E. Podesta and J. Lakey responded. Both expressed their appreciation of the encouraging remarks of the speaker of the toast and also for the support they had received in the past.

To Mayor Worts was given the toast: "Sport in 1932." His worship said that in 1931, when the girls started to play football everybody thought it more or less a joke, but from the arrowing took made as the season advanced the fans changed their minds. He predicted a more marked improvement for 1932. His worship assured all of the wholehearted support of the town for 1932 and hoped the same friendly rivalry which had existed in the past would be continued in 1932.

Mr. H. Champ also spoke along similar lines and all the girls on the splendid success of their social gathering.

This part of the program was liberally punctuated with songs from Sarah Davies, Sam McCleary, J. Hope, G. Davis, John Davies and E. Martin, all of which were well rendered and greatly appreciated. The hit of this part of the program was the song by Winnie, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Phillips, who sang very sweetly.

On behalf of the girls Mrs. Phillips thanked all who had taken part in the program and those who had helped to make the evening a success.

After the banquet the Brick & Coal boys' and girls' teams were invited to take part in the dance which followed. This brought to a close a most delightful and well managed event which was a distinct credit to those who undertook the management of it.

Dramatic Festival Was Great Success

Oratorical Contest and Plays Were Real Treat

(Contributed)

On Friday evening of last week a dramatic festival was given at a packed house in the Grand Theatre. The program consisted of four parts. In the first part four public school pupils took part in an oratorical competition. Elinor Learmonth spoke on "The Dominion of Canada," Curtis Buchholz on "The Railways of Canada," June L. Maillard on "Canada and Citizenship," and Jack Learmonth on "This Canada of Ours." All four gave a good account of themselves, but judging from the applause there was no doubt in the minds of the audience who was the winner and the judges accorded with this in giving the award to Jack Learmonth.

In the second part four pupils from the high school participated, namely: W. James Buchanan, who spoke on "Canada's History," Irene E. Buchholz, on "Canada Among the Nations," John M. F. Soukup, on "The Peoples of Canada," and Anne Shaw, on "The Unification of Canada." Here again all four acquitted themselves splendidly, but the palm evidently was between the first two speakers and the decision of the judges was a tie between James Buchanan and Irene Buchholz. Each of the three winners will receive five dollars. The judges were Canon Western, Mr. Norman Davis and Inspector Carr, all of Medicine Hat. Canon Western was stilled on the road some where and Mrs. Carr took his place as judge.

The third part was a vocal concert, "Singing up Applesauce," put on under the auspices of the Rebekah Lodge. The act in this was Mrs. Keleat, as Mrs. Burtenshaw; E. T. Cook, as Silas Winch and Bert Allison, as Bill Burtenshaw. The play was full of side splitting situations in a dilapidated room in the Burtenshaw home, and the actions kept the audience in fits of laughter.

The last four consisted of "The Valet," and the actors in this master play kept the audience in great suspense from the start to the finish. This play was put on jointly by the Anglican and United churches. E. L. Stonetook the part of Warden Holt; Elv. P. M. Stewart that of Father Day, Prison Chaplain; Miss Vera Cox that of Josephine Paris; W. Hill that of Dan a jailer; T. Balser that of an attendant and Principal King that of James Dyke, the prisoner. The acting would have done credit to any professional group. The committee feel that the actors are well warranted in repeating this play in Medicine Hat towards the end of March.

Leonard Larson presided at the piano.

After the entertainment the actors and actresses were entertained by the L.O.F. of that city and partook of a delicious lunch served by the committee. The audience was brought to a close by a few congratulatory addresses.

Advocates Change In Drought Area

Wants Government to Take Over These Areas

Sketching a dismal picture of farming conditions in the mid-eastern and southeastern sections of the province as a result of drought over many seasons, Gordon A. Foster, Hand Hills, moving the resolution in reply to the speech from the throne Friday afternoon, advocated government acquisition of these areas and a restoration of grazing lands for ranching with water supplies secured by dams, available water courses.

Reduction of assessment, consolidation of land holdings, establishment of community pastures removal of settlers in many districts to more favorable locations by means of a land exchange with the government and the lifting of mortgage and tax burdens on farmers were among the remedies which Mr. Foster advanced for meeting the problem.

Who is the Canadian Pacific pioneer with the longest service record? A centennial railway has been ended by the official statement that the "Grand old man of the Canadian Pacific," with 48 years of service, closed his eyes at 8:00 a.m. of last Monday, with 47. They are respectively 41 and 78 years of age.

Stably placed with their first experience of Canadian winter country, delighted with Canadian climate and looking forward to future visits to the Dominion, the four Canadian students recently from Salt Lake City, Utah, who were in the city for a few days, will probably be a result of the visit.

Free of winter sport enthusiasts are now being focused on the arrival of the season on this continent, the 10th annual Redcliff International Hot Wind Derby to be held February 25-26 at Quebec for a course of 125 miles, terminating with the Hot Derby Ball at the Casino, French Canadian. Outstanding dog numbers are entered for the event. (213)

Boxing Eliminations In Medicine Hat

Will Be Held at The Corona on February 29th

Boxing elimination contests will be put on in Medicine Hat on February 29th under the auspices of the Hat branch of the Canadian Legion. The contest will take place in the Corona hotel theatre.

These eliminations will be in connection with the Athletic Union of Alberta and are open to all amateur boxers. Blank forms for entries may be secured at the Review office. The winners of the contests at the Hat will get free transportation and all expenses paid to the provincial finals to be held at Cardston. All entrants who show promising ability at these contests will qualify to go in for the Olympic games. This is a good opportunity for aspirants for boxing honors to get into the game in earnest.

Remember the date and get your entries in early.

ALBERTA STILL HAS LOTS GRAIN ON HAND

A total of $7,199,000 bushels of grain still remain in the hands of farmers located near lines of the Canadian National railways in the three Prairie provinces, according to a census taken by the railway company as at February 1, 1932. Of this total, 19,265,500 bushels are wheat and 5,959,500 bushels are coarse grains. Alberta farmers appear the most reluctant to part with their grain for they still retain 9,347,000 bushels of wheat and 4,111,000 bushels of other grains.

PASSING OF REV. MORROW

Rev. J. W. Morrow, a pioneer of Medicine Hat, died suddenly at his home there last Thursday. There was probably no better known or more popular man in this part of the province than the late Mr. Morrow. His many kindly acts his congeniality his wit, his thorough knowledge of local conditions, his extensive grasp of world affairs and his willingness to help all, made him a man whose advice and consolation were sought from all quarters.

In his passing Rev. Morrow Alberta, and especially this portion of it, loses one who's place will be well nigh impossible to fill.

Mr. James McKinney, a well known citizen of Clareholm died suddenly at Victoria, B. C. last Thursday. It will be remembered that Mrs. McKinney, his distinguished wife died at a short time ago. Both were well known in this district and on several occasions they visited Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Haslem who at one time lived in the Bowell district. Mrs. McKinney was a sister of Mrs. Haslem. Mr. McKinney had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Haslem near Clareholm before going to the coast to spend the winter.

It is to be noted that all this bad weather may have been a natural or something at the least risk.

Work is Resumed At the Pump Station

Government Approves of Work And Supplies Funds

Work was received by Mayor of last week and that both provincial and Dominion governments had approved of the town's plans for completing the work of improving condition at the pump station as an unemployment measure, and had assumed their respective responsibility for furnishing their share of the funds.

On receiving this information no time was lost in getting the work under way, and on Monday morning a gang of men started on the job. It is the intention to rush the work along as rapidly as possible to be in readiness for the spring flood.

The work is being divided among those most in need of relief at the present time.

EXPECTS RESULTS FROM IMP. CONFERENCE

Merchants and shoppers in the British Isles are looking forward to tangible results from the Imperial economic conference to be assembled at Ottawa in July, according to P. A. Clews, acting Empire manager for the Canadian National Railway who recently arrived in Canada for meeting with Sir Henry Thornton and other officials of the railway. Mr. Clews declared that there is a strong sentiment in favor of the purchase of British Empire goods in the Old Country. The Empire marketing board is doing much to assist in creating a demand for the British Dominions and there is an ardent hope everywhere that the coming conference will result in some definite forward steps being taken to extend trading with the Empire.

The Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in July, will be representative of one-quarter of the area of the world's surface. It will also be representative of almost one-quarter of the world's population of two billions of people.

Peace On Earth

As the Christian nations of the world again prepare to observe the anniversary of the birth of Christ the thoughts of their peoples are impressed more with "the glad tidings of great joy" than with the herald angels announcing the coming of the greatest event in the history of mankind, the precursor of "peace on earth, goodwill toward men." So it is Christians approach that we dwell upon thoughts of home, peace, and friendship, and goodwill, and seek to banish from our minds all tumults and ill-will.

Nevertheless, to many it will appear as if "peace on earth" is still a vision of the future, an ideal that may some day be realized, if and when the Christian nations of the world realize the inconsistency of their attitude in maintaining huge armaments whereat to wage war upon each other.

Christmas with its thoughts and ideals of peace can be made to serve the great purpose of this year, perhaps to a greater extent than ever before, by cultivating a "will to peace" among people in general. Until there is such a strongly ingrained will to peace, there will be, and can be, no permanent peace, no permanent security against the horrors and destruction of war.

There is in evidence in many quarters a tendency to sharply criticize and condemn the League of Nations as ineffective and timid in its handling of the crisis that developed between China and Japan in Manchuria. The League has always been a handicap that a help to the League in its efforts for world betterment. In practically every impending crisis that has loomed upon the international horizon since the League was established, some newspapers and public men have denounced the League as a failure.

Yet the League has survived and has been the instrument through which more than one impending open conflict has been averted. Even in the present Manchurian crisis, notwithstanding the clouds which have taken place, can say fair and open-minded critics doubt that, had there been no League of Nations, a sanguinary war would now be raging in Asia with all the dire probabilities that it would spread and engulf Europe and possibly provoke another world disaster.

The League is not perfect. It cannot always attain to its highest ideals. It cannot always achieve everything it desires. The difficulties which confront it, and the problems it must solve, are so many and so varied that it utterly fails on some one occasion to prevent war, and such failure is not yet far from being on record. It would not necessarily mean the end of the League, nor that its efforts were wholly fruitless.

The League of Nations is the great clearing house, the arbitration court of the world's international difficulties. As such it is deserving of the support of all peace-loving people of all nations. Instead of being critical of its efforts and its achievement, we should be more sympathetic, more understanding, more peace-loving people should be boosters and enthusiastic supporters. Destroy the League and the world would be thrown into chaos, with the one great restraining influence of an important character removed, and the proponents of the gospel of force given a free hand to promote their evil designs.

As the world progresses towards greater enlightenment, to better understanding between all nations, to an abandonment of narrow nationalisms, in favor of true internationalism, and the League is bending its efforts in these directions. So, too, will the League itself grow and develop into an ever increasingly effective factor in world affairs, and an influence for good. Something better than the League as at present constituted and governed will ultimately take its place when the nations are prepared to support that better organization. In the meantime, every Canadian should be an ardent League of Nations supporter. They should demand that their Government continue to support the League actively, and do so in a moral way, an intellectual way, a financial way.

And this year as we ring "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men" may we sincerely mean what we sing, and may our song be a re-affirmation of our belief in and support of the one great peace organization that arose out of the war which we were told, and which we fondly hoped was a war to end war.

Were Clever Surgeons

Swedish Doctors Performed Delicate Operations 5,000 Years Ago
As far back as 5,000 years ago delicate brain operations were accomplished by Swedish surgeons, according to Professor Otto Rydbeck, in Lund, the old university town of Southern Sweden. The professor stated that fourteen or fifteen skulls found in Swedish soil show marks of an incision by stone Age surgeons. In the parish of Skivard the skeleton of a man of 3,000 years old, showed that he had been operated on to remove a purulent infection on the brain. The operation, which had not been performed by boring, but by scraping off the bone, had evidently been quite successful, since it was evident that the patient lived for many years afterwards.

A Practical Wonderland

"Eye" Of X-Ray Has Revealed Many Interesting Things
An intensely practical wonderland which the "eye" of the X-ray has revealed in the past year was described by about 200 experts at a five-day meeting of the Radiological Society of North America, held in St. Louis. In this wonderland are numerous new views of the human body, including pictures which catch diseases near its start and guide medicine into new measures of prevention. Among the things which radiologists say can be seen are sources of coughs and of gas poisoning and beginnings of human life long before birth.

A symposium into some of the general uses of X-rays will be conducted by the United States Bureau of Standards. Another section will tell of work in the field of x-ray research laboratory at Washington. Other subjects will include usefulness of radiation for children, for nerves, cancer and the heart.

New Study Of Cancer

Malignant Cells Fed and Then Killed In Various Ways

The feeding meals to living human cancer cells, which are raised in glass tubes, was described before the Radiological Society of North America, at St. Louis.

The cancer cell chefs are two men and a woman. They are doing a scientific movie from the Crocker Cancer Research Institute of Columbia University and at Johns Hopkins University.

The "imperial" but living bits of real cancer have yielded to their caretakers considerable practical information.

Raising these malignant cells is more difficult than an incubated hen. Regardless of their destructive powers when organized in man, they are delicate things. A single invisible mold or bacterium floating through the air into their glass homes while they are being fed ruins the whole work.

So they are kept in a special constructed tunnel, lighted by glass windows. It is big enough to hold a table, but the cancer cells are raised in glass receptacles of various shapes. The caretakers sit outside, directing their arms and heads behind the tunnel through special opening.

The cells come originally from cancer removed from patients by operation. There are all varieties. They are placed in a mixture made of the clear portion of cattle's blood and certain salts and then sealed airtight. But they have to be fed regularly every 48 hours.

There are two different ways to learn how best to destroy cancer. Some are so sensitive to X-ray and radium that a small dose of radiation kills them, although it does not injure healthy flesh. This kind of cancer can be treated by X-rays and radium. Other types are less sensitive to radiation, showing that X-rays and radium would fail to cure.

Speaks Her Mind

Mrs. Agnes MacPhail Believes In Fooded The Cancer

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., told the Pan-American Institute that "Canadians have retailed in boycott against United States goods."

"Canada will not stand for concession from the United States," she said. "The Dominion will not tolerate infringement from any one. London or Ottawa types that their sphere of influence is being encroached upon."

"Canada will not become a union of the Pan-American Union if it has to play second fiddle."

Well spoken, Agnes.

There is truth in every one of those statements, but no male diplomat has been able to say them. The world has been wondering just what would be woman's contribution to public life. Perhaps this is it—plain speaking and facing the facts to other spheres that has ever been the woman's role.

Eclipse Aided Columbus

Scared Natives Of Jamaica Into Supplying Needed Provision

The eclipse of the moon on March 1, 1504, proved of much service to Christopher Columbus on the island of Jamaica, and short of provisions, which the islanders refused to supply, an threatened to punish them by depriving them of the moon's light. At first his threat was treated with indifference, but when the eclipse tilted over the natives' terror-struck with the apparently supernatural powers of the great Spanish commander, immediately collected provisions for the fleet, and thereafter treated their visitors with profound respect.

Could Give Some Advice

Manitoba Pioneer Will Soon Celebrate Her 16th Birthday

Mrs. Joseph Gladue, pioneer resident of the Portage la Prairie district, is quoted in Lebanon as "now 16" to be over 160 years old. Mrs. Gladue will celebrate her 16th birthday at Christmas.

In British Columbia in 1856, Mrs. Gladue has seen more than a century of varied life in Canada's Northwest. She came in Manitoba, 59 years ago and settled in the Prairie district. Buffalo then roamed the plains of the prairie.

Married Police Laid Longer

Statistics show that both men and women live longer now than they are married than those of both sexes that remain single. Such is the declaration of Dr. Anna Marie Niemeyer of Berlin, who has collected for the German Women's University material on the development of German family life.

Her tables also show that since 1914 men marry at an earlier age than formerly, while women marry later.

Demand For Graded Beef

Red Marking For Choice Grade and Blue For Good

Just over two years the Canadian Government Department of Agriculture introduced a policy under which choice or good beef sold by retail butchers could be identified as red or blue instead of on every cut.

The red for choice grade and blue for good, only by best inspection of Federal inspection from a health standpoint can be branded. The sale of this quality beef has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the promoters of the policy. Government officials began at the opening of 1931 to check up on the sale of the brand.

After allowing a period of 15 months as an experimental stage. In January, 1931, the total number of pounds of red and blue branded beef sold was 667,000, by July the sales were nearly 2,000,000 pounds. It is estimated that 15,000,000 pounds of branded beef have been sold in Canada this year and more cattle have been sold in the Dominion for brand more than have been exported to the British market.

Not all of eligible beef is branded, the amount of branding does by various plants being more or less according to existing orders from the trade and as well in part the expectation of demand during the following week or so. In this connection it is interesting to note that in recent months meat packers have quite often found themselves short on supplies, as a result of a strong steady pick-up in inquiry from the consumer.

In certain areas there are producers of beef which have a definite policy with the production of beef eligible for branding as the main objective. The cattle of this type of branded beef is being reflected back to the producer and is stimulating better beef production and more suitable cattle has, throughout 1931, been a sustaining factor on the market.

In view of the fact that beef will be a very liberal supply of cattle raised during the coming winter, it is likely that demand for graded beef will play an important role in the spring and summer markets.

National Research Council

Plans Made For Further Improvement of Canadian Wool

Attended by representatives of both manufacturers and producers of wool and delegates from various Canadian universities, the annual meeting of the National Research Council, to discuss committee on wool was concluded recently at Toronto. Marked by a general readiness to co-operate in solution of the problems facing the industry, the meeting authorized the continuation of plans for further improvement of Canadian wool.

Results from experiments designed to develop a type of sheep suited to western range conditions were deemed so satisfactory, the committee decided to assemble the wool from three of the four provinces, compare it with fleece obtained from similar strains in other countries, and then follow it into a Canadian manufactured product.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA

The Christmas Seal Sale of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, which was Patron and Patrons, has been a success.

The struggle against the spread of disease is a constant one in which every citizen is concerned. The work of the Association is to bring about the prevention and cure of all forms of tuberculosis and to secure the health and strength of thousands and to save many from many other diseases, especially children, what is perhaps the most important of all the dangers to which the human race is exposed.

We ask those who can, to show their appreciation of what the Association is doing by buying Christmas Seals to make the result of the Christmas Seal Sale even more successful than it was last year.

The Canadian Tuberculosis Association has played a noble part in this struggle, and evidence of its work can be seen in all parts of the Dominion. The work of the Association is to bring about the prevention and cure of all forms of tuberculosis and to secure the health and strength of thousands and to save many from many other diseases, especially children, what is perhaps the most important of all the dangers to which the human race is exposed.

We ask those who can, to show their appreciation of what the Association is doing by buying Christmas Seals to make the result of the Christmas Seal Sale even more successful than it was last year.

Romance of Gold

Sketch of Development of Industry in British Columbia

In the lure of gold which took men past the narrow frontiers of a trading post colony, was the genesis of British Columbia's greatness. Dale L. Pitt, president of the Mining Association of British Columbia and general manager of the Premier mine, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and Mining Association of British Columbia. Developing his theme Mr. Dale took his audience back to the last century and showed how mining in British Columbia had led to opening up of new country, development of roads and railways.

Mr. Dale, following the mining industry from its inception in British Columbia, pointed to the remarkable influence it had exercised, not only on the province, but on the Dominion. From the nugget found by an Indian woman on Queen Charlotte Islands and the few colors prospectors panned on the Thompson River, the industry rose through the placer fields to its romance, its wealth, its development, its disappointments, its building of roads and railways, its development of mines and smelters and railroads. Next came the more recent days when science and skill manifested itself in the development of modern ore dressing, smelting and refining so that man could take from the earth nature's immense precious metals and by its ingenuity, coupled with capital's ability to build huge plants, gave us wealth never dreamed of before.

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines unattractive to them. They tell his surface that have to come inflamed by the attacks of the parasites. The nerves to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and that operation is altogether health-giving.

An Old Superstition
Speaking of luck, an old timer tells of a superstition held by the lumberjacks of the Pacific Northwest. They sleep in a bed that was facing the same way as the nearby river ran. The bed and to a right angle to the river. Otherwise, the man sleeping in the bed that paralleled the course of the river would be drowned inside the year.

Metals For Drigibles

Many Besides Aluminum Play An Important Part In Construction

Aluminum is the metal most commonly associated with the building of dirigibles such as the new Akron, but there are numerous other metals playing important parts in such aircraft. On the Akron, nickel steel was used for outrigger fittings because of strength; stainless steel for exhaust manifolds; non-magnetic alloy steel for control boards; plain carbon steel and plain iron for miscellaneous purposes; parts and fittings of monel metal and of magnesium; brass for bearings; bronze and copper for fuel lines; platinum for some navigation instruments. Duralumin is used for the framework. Incidentally, the lightness of aluminum is taken advantage of, not only for the actual body of the ship but is used for the stove and other galley equipment. The stove weighs only 110 pounds.
